Economy Begins With a Grassroots 'No!' to 'Grants' That Are Only a Piece of Debt

Hope Rejects:

1. Federal aid for a city paving project — beaten unanimously at a mass meeting of 500 citizens October 8.
2. Federal aid for a local housing project — which we understand folded after the paving district disaster.
3. And there won't be any new post office either. This puts Washington on notice our town is circulating a petition to reject it as unneeded, unwanted, and a bad example for America.

As this writer understands it the federal government feels it has an obligation to replace post office buildings every 50 years. The Hope Post Office was built in 1912, the 50-year rule is being invoked, and the government is preparing to junk the present building and spend $500,000 on a new one at a different location.

But government has an obligation much greater than the 50-year rule of bureaucrats — the obligation to keep itself solvent so our country can defend itself in time of war, and honor its social security pledges to the old folks in time of peace. The government's debt record alone would seem to dictate that Hope — and the thousands of American towns like it — should be denied a new post office even if it needed it... which it doesn't.

Let me explain, before quoting the following figures, that apparently the people are keeping up with the national debt as closely as your editor. Following their rejection of federal "aid" on the paving project I personally interviewed scores of Hope citizens on the post office project — and found a solid front of hostility... and fear. They know the national debt record, for sure.

In 1915, on the eve of World War I, the U.S. public debt was one billion dollars. In 1920, at the end of the war, the debt was 24 billion. By 1930 we had reduced it to 16 billion.

On the eve of World War II, 1941, it had risen to 48 billion because of interwar expenditures to rescue us from the depression of the 1930's. By the end of the second war the debt had shot up to 258 billion in 1945. With the return of peace you would have expected the debt to be reduced, as after World War I — but the frightening fact is that it has gone right on climbing, and now, nearly 20 years after the fighting ended, stands at more than 300 billion. In 1915 each American's share of the national debt was $11. Today it is $1,625. And still today the government is operating at a loss of around 6 billion a year, despite the continuance of wartime tax levels.

If the people, viewing this kind of management (under both Republican and Democratic regimes) as the one to which they look for defense of our country in time of war and payment of social security obligations in time of peace, are filled with distrust and fear — you can't blame them. Our generation is a product of two World Wars. Men fought and died for their country. Because of this tragedy great tax revenues were placed in the hands of the central government — and the government not only won't turn those revenues back to the people but in time of peace it can't even keep expenses within the limits of wartime taxation.

So the bitter fact is that, except for waterway development and other major projects beyond the power of local government to accomplish, there is no such thing as "federal aid" — only an additional piece of the ever-climbing federal debt. Waterway and similar developments represent a permanent asset gain to offset debt, but to claim this for paving or housing is ridiculous.

When the Hope paving district was first proposed I objected to it because of the proposal's dependence upon a federal "grant" of $250,000. However, with the only newspaper in town I decided an editorial blast might make it appear I was prejudging the issue. Instead, I sounded out various people, found there was a hard core of genuine opposition — and I guaranteed them that if the question reached the petition-circulation stage we would fight it, and if the petition did finally qualify then we would take the question before the people in our own petition demanding a referendum.

There was no secret about any of this. I advised the city manager and members of the municipal board of directors where I stood and what I was doing as a property owner, and what I proposed to do as an editor if the paving district proposal finally came up to the starting-gate.

After the October 8 mass meeting, which killed the paving deal, the city's official family called me in for an executive meeting at the city hall. I assured them nothing in this controversy shook my support of the city-manager form of government. I said I had been in Washington many times the last several years as the head of a national newspaper group battling government encroachment upon the press — the Press Committee to Eliminate Censorship by Taxation — and saw a tax-hungry government reject our plea for freedom and justice. Now the situation is reversed. If the federal government needs taxes so badly then I'm not going to be a party to bartering away our basic freedoms for some lousy, so-called federal aid.

I told the city fathers in November just what I am writing here today:

1. The federal-aid paving district is dead.
2. The federal-aid housing project also is dead — or will be if it sticks its head out of the hole it has retired to.
3. There won't be any new Hope post office. No one wants it. It would be built out of debt, not taxes. And to say Hope needs it, in view of the population decline in our county and all southwest Arkansas, is absurd. Between 1950 and 1960 our county of Hempstead lost 21.5%, and the combined loss of Hempstead and her neighbor counties of Lafayette,

Howard, and Nevada was 21.1%. In the decade Hope itself lost 2.4%.

Worst of all is this report: When the present post office opened in 1912 Hempstead county had a population of 28,285. Today the figure is 19,661. So what the government proposes is the spending of half a million dollars in an area where the population is 30.4% less than when the original building was put up.

There are thousands of towns like us throughout America, prosperous enough but without material change. To replace all their post offices simply because some non-elective official invokes a 50-year rule, ignoring the state of the nation and its ever-rising debt, is to ask for this very attack I am making. And a petition will follow immediately asking our congressman, Hon. Oren Harris, to kill the post office project.

Congressmen and senators do in the main only what the people back home want them to do. The Arkansas delegation are my personal friends, and a widely-circulated petition will be enough. Historically the replacement of 50-year-old post offices is a routine matter — but this is an emergency, a national emergency; and in an emergency your elective officials will override the appointed bureaucrats.

A couple of footnotes are in order before closing this article.

ONE — My newspaper building is next door to Hope Post Office. In all honesty I should tell you that a commercial printer in Denison, Texas, by the name of Volt Langford, is embroiled with the government because he won't move his plant from its site next door to the Denison Post Office so the latter can be expanded. You might attempt to second-guess me and say our cases are similar — but you would be wrong. Even if you were right, Mr. Langford is justified, as is every citizen, in throwing his weight around as to where the post office shall be situated. He wants the Denison office where it is because it's next door and brings him business. Every citizen wants it at the place he finds most convenient. This is a tug-of-war that is decided by the maximum you have in the way of artillery.

But The Star's case is different. We have no commercial printing department, and Hope Post Office produces no store-traffic for us; it is convenient, of course, when depositing our sacks of newspaper mail. But you read several years ago that The Star purchased a larger site a block and a half away — so while we're the post office's neighbor today we won't be tomorrow.

But I know how that Denison commercial printer feels. One day this past fall a couple of Post Office Department real estate men called on me and asked if I would sell The Star Building. They explained that one of the options confronting them was to utilize the present post office site and purchase all the property south to U.S. Highway 67 (Third Street), which would include The Star Building and the sites occupied by Oliver Mills' bicycle and typewriter shop, the Butane Gas Co., Shipley Photo Studio, and Julian Hoesy's Texaco service station. From the way my visitors grinned I knew someone had tipped them off about how I felt. I confirmed it. No price — no deal — just my flat promise they would leave Hope empty-handed no matter how long they stayed. And just for the record, Mr. Langford, printer of Denison, Texas, is going to get a copy of this article and as many reprints as he cares to make, for whatever good it will do him in his own fight.

TWO — Earlier in this article I mentioned the Press Committee to Eliminate Censorship by Taxation. This was a group, now liquidated, of 205 small and middle-size newspapers, of which I was chairman and Dr. John R. Steelman, publisher of the Suburban Record, Silver Spring, Md., was co-chairman.

Our group was drawn together by the tax fight I made to deduct as an editorial expense from income tax the cost of circulating the sales tax petitions of 1955 and 1957, total of petition and court costs being $18,000 personally. This was merely the cost of putting the issue on the ballot, no campaign costs whatever in the actual election. Authorization for such expenditure is clearly defined in the Seventh Amendment (Initiative and Referendum) to the Arkansas Constitution, and by all subsequent court interpretations in Arkansas. The federal government in my case overrode state law and definitely curtailed the power of a newspaper to carry out by petition an editorial policy of many years' standing.

In all the newspaper crusades of American history a free press has spent money and employed people to carry out in the field the policies it advocated on the editorial page. Without such action in the field the mere printed page would be ineffective.

Over a period of years our representations in Washington came to naught. It availed nothing to show that the government actually collected its income tax — from the people I spent it with, the signature solicitors, the hotels, the telephone company, the printers and lawyers — the government insisted on collecting a second tax from the petitioner because he was "influencing legislation." And you will find, in your dealings with Washington, when you go to your political friends however much they might want to help they can't, because your particular issue is only a small part of a very big item like the tax-revision bill, and they are bound to the party high command. This is strictly a bipartisan observation: My fight — and the committee's — started under the Republicans and continued with the Democrats.

But if we retired under a swarm of hostile arrows from Capitol Hill — this is another time and another battlefield.

Washington needs more taxes. But if back home we accept less federal aid then Washington will need less taxes.

Remember the slogan of this newspaper: The tragedy of people is — We start off with a country, and wind up with a government.

Arms Cut to Hit Business in New Year

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—President Johnson's announced peace drive and his ambition to clip a billion dollars from the next military budget could crimp some business plans as well as those of the Pentagon.

If the sum for military spending is trimmed in the fiscal year starting July 1, it would mark the first drop from a preceding year since 1955 — although 1960 outlays held about level with 1959.

Individual companies looking for military hardware orders thus could be more competitive than ever. And some communities housing defense plants or those of suppliers to the various defense industries could find unemployment a rising problem if first the economy drive and later the peace offensive cut demand for military hardware and closes defense installations.

At $51 billion, the proposed military spending would still be about half of the expected federal administrative budget for the next fiscal year. It has ranged from 59 per cent to 52 per cent in each year since the Korean War.

And at $51 billion the military spending would be about 8.5 per cent of Gross National Product, unless this measure of the nation's output of goods and services rises well above the current rate. The range since the Korean War has been 12 per cent in the 1953 fiscal year to 8.3 per cent in 1960. The GNP has risen each year, but almost always at a faster rate than the increase in military spending.

Since the end of World War II, spending under the defense budgets has totaled $600 billion.

If the economy trend catches on, and Congress approves, and if the aim of a peace offensive leads to less world tension, some now see a chance of military spending dropping to $45 billion by fiscal 1969.

Some businesses and some communities are bound to feel the effects. But at the same time there is evidence that savings in military outlays will furnish funds for more government spending in other lines, perhaps furnishing orders and employment for some civilian product makers or services.

New Pentagon thinking already has led to order cancellations to the dismay of companies and communities. It has led to new orders to the joy of rival companies and other communities.

The already risky business of defense production may get tougher with economy drives and any easing of world tensions.

Warm Wave Welcomed by Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation's weather pattern showed a welcome warming trend across most areas today, bringing relief to wide sections in the South and East hit by severe snow and ice storms earlier this week.

The Weather Bureau reported no severe cold or heavy snow. Light snow fell in the northern Appalachians and central Rockies and light rain splashed areas along the Washington coast.

Strong winds swept the central part of the country as a dry cold front moved eastward along a line from Wisconsin to northwestern Texas. Early morning temperatures ranged from the 50s along the Mexican border to the 20s in mountain areas in the east and to the teens in mountain sections in the west.

Although readings were generally above freezing in most other areas, a pocket of cold air spread into parts of the Southeast and the mercury dipped to 27 in Cross City, Fla.

Coffee-House Set Up for Religious Debate on New Issues in Books and Films

By DALE NELSON

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—"Where," asked the young doctor, "can I ask an honest question about Christianity in this church?"

The question started the Rev. William H. Creevey thinking. Where indeed?

The answer the young Presbyterian minister and some of his flock came up with is a far cry from the traditional church ice cream social.

It's Le Rapport, a candle-lighted coffee house featuring discussions ranging from political philosophy to the latest sexy Italian movie.

The Rev. Mr. Creevey, 32, and other young adults of Woodland Park Presbyterian Church first started holding weekly discussions at their homes.

One night last June, Bill Creevey, as he is known, brought up the church-related bistro idea. His plan at first was to establish a center primarily for discussion of current motion pictures.

"Our feeling was that the questions raised by contemporary films and other art forms are the questions the church is concerned with," he recalls.

The next day, the Rev. Mr. Creevey learned that the coffee house next door to the Ridgecrest theater was for rent. The Ridgecrest, eight blocks from the church, specializes in foreign films. The coffee house had been operated as a cabaret and dance-hall.

Bill Creevey and his friends got approval from the governing board of the church and, on Sept. 17, the coffee house reopened with discussion taking the place of dancing.

Le Rapport is designed to be non-profit, and has been. In the first three months it went $500 in the red. The backers, reluctant to impose a cover charge, started soliciting $10 contributions. They pay two employees, cook and a waiter, and the rent is $110 a month. The establishment is open five nights a week with discussions on weekend nights. Starting in January, film society meetings were scheduled Tuesday through Thursday evenings.

Crowds average about 50 or 60, almost all non-members of the Woodland Park Church—or perhaps of any church.

Subject matter was quickly begun. On a recent weekend, there were scenes from a play about Joan of Arc, "The Lark," a discussion of "Boccaccio '70," a racy Italian film playing next door, and a session on liberalism and conservatism.

On the latter evening, Dr. Giovanni Costigan of the University of Washington History Department gave a 20-minute talk. Then people started asking questions and making observations. It was midnight when the discussion broke up.

Pope Begins Pilgrimage to Holy Land

By GERALD I. MILLER
Associated Press Writer

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI came today to the eve of his history-making pilgrimage to the Holy Land.

Throughout the Vatican, last-minute details of the papal trip were being attended to. At Rome's Fiumicino Airport the new four-engine DC8 that will carry the Pope to Amman, Jordan, Saturday was readied for its final test flight.

The Jordanians hung the ancient walls of Jerusalem's Old City with flags. Jordan's government called out a fourth of its security forces, including two brigades of tough desert troops, to patrol the papal routes.

In the Israeli sector of Jerusalem, yellow and white Vatican flags were mingled along main streets with Israel's blue and white Star of David flag. Police Minister Bechor Shitrit toured the Pope's itinerary in Israel inspecting security and traffic arrangements.

The government press office announced about 800 foreign journalists had arrived in Israel to report the pilgrimage.

The Pope's two Holy Land hosts swapped critical words in connection with the pilgrimage.

Goldwater Is to Run, Word in Arizona

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater—whose name means conservatism across America—will declare himself a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination today, a source close to the Arizona lawmaker said.

At the same time, the Goldwater associate said, the senator will announce plans to file for his third Senate term.

Goldwater will make his twin declarations at a private meeting with Arizona Republican leaders and a patio news conference at his sprawling, hillside home overlooking Phoenix.

The senator was said to feel he must formally enter the presidential race because of the groundswell of support and the

Hal Boyle's Crystal Ball Reveals Russian Fears and Paper-Clip Economy

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—What's in store for us in 1964?

A deep peer into our clouded crystal ball shows we can look forward to the mixture as before—but with some surprises.

On the international front, it seems safe to predict, Soviet Premier Khrushchev will find at least 700 million reasons to grasp the Western world in an ever more cordial embrace—and all the reasons are Chinese.

In Washington, as a result of stringent belt-tightening by the Democrats in their new federal economy program, the government will announce it has used 1,364,283,195 fewer paper clips than during any year of the Dwight D. Eisenhower administration.

Republicans will counter with an accusation that a number of employees of the U.S. Department of Agriculture have been secretly taking home government-bought pencils and letting their children use them to do their home work.

Both political parties will call vigorously for a reduction in taxes—and 99 million taxpayers will give a big fat yawn. They know that if one level of government takes less from their pockets, another level of government will take more.

In an unexpected goodwill gesture, the taxicab drivers of Paris will raise a fund to build a monument to the American tourist. As a matter of national pride, however, the statue turned out by the sculptor will closely resemble President Charles de Gaulle.

A more inexpensive way of handling the nation's grain surplus will be found. It will be stored in government-built bomb shelters. In case of an emergency, the citizen will merely shovel out the grain, or crawl in and pull it over his head.

In medicine the big news will be the discovery of two more sure cures for the common cold. After trying them both, the average man will find the only sure thing about them is that they sure don't work.

As a result of continued automation, more people will be working less — and enjoying it less, too. But business will be generally on the upgrade, and the competition for the big buck will go on unchecked.

All in all, 1964 promises to be a zany, wonderful year, and life will remain what it has always been—the only thing worth living. Be sure to do your share of it.

Alarm Grows as Cyprus Quits Allies

By ALEX EFTY

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—The crisis on Cyprus boiled on Thursday, prompting Britain to dispatch more troops and sending worried officials into high-level meetings in Paris and Athens.

There was a pause in Greek and Turkish Cypriot fighting in Nicosia, the original cause of concern. But alarm spread because Cyprus President Makarios announced he will seek cancellation of the treaties under which Britain, Greece and Turkey pledge to maintain the island's independence.

Any such action would raise tempers once more in Turkey, which reluctantly set aside its ancient claims to Cyprus and went along with the treaty that made Cyprus independent of Britain in 1960. Greek Cypriot Makarios' policy also could provoke new attacks by the Turkish Cypriot minority.

In Athens, the Greek Cabinet held two emergency sessions and asked for an immediate meeting of the permanent council of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in Paris. The council met for an hour, its second meeting in eight days.

Informed sources in Paris said the meeting was to give the council a full briefing on the Cyprus situation. Members Turkey, Greece and Britain gave the council a full report on the tense island, the sources said.

Greece and Turkey are partners in NATO but long have been divided on the issue of Cyprus. The council is expected to call on all concerned to negotiate for a peaceful settlement.

In London, Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home summoned the Cabinet to meet in extraordinary session Friday.

Here, on the scene, Duncan Sandys, the British Commonwealth secretary who earlier had worked out a plan for British troops to leave Cyprus, was

Crying-Towel Handed 1963 Losers Club

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The annual year-end meeting of the New York Losers Club was held in a convenient cellar over the weekend, the hockey Rangers, basketball Knicks, football Jets and the baseball Mets.
Let's listen in:
Mr. Met: I want to congratulate you all on another successful season. Last time I looked we were all in the cellar, and I'm proud of you. It shows the right loser spirit.
Mr. Ranger: I'll tell you, for me it isn't easy. The Boston Bruins are terrible. But I'm working hard and I'm almost sure to miss the playoffs again.

Mr. Jet: I had my troubles, too. There are a couple of teams in the West that I think I can beat. In the Eastern Division I'm all right. But the way Weeb Ewbank is talking I'm not so sure he wants me to stay in this club. He likes those Yankees and Giants.
Mr. Knick: I see the Giants won again. That's three straight. Disgusting. And with that old man at quarterback.
Mr. Met: I can't understand it. That Y. A. Tittle looks older than Amos Alonzo Stagg. All my old men hit .211. But the Giants lost the playoff to the Bears, and the Yankees lost the World Series.
Mr. Ranger: Yes, and in four straight. I didn't know that was legal.
Mr. Met: Those Dodgers didn't act like that when they were in our town. And while we are on the subject of baseball, we have a new application for membership—from the Washington Senators.
Mr. Ranger: Nuts to them. We got enough losers right in this town to keep the club going. Let them join up with the Redskins and start their own club.
Mr. Knick: Furthermore, I hear the Senators have a new slogan for next year: "Off the floor in '64." That's not only lousy poetry, it's a bad attitude. You don't catch the rest of us pulling that kind of stuff.

ish forces to keep the peace, met repeatedly with Makarios. Makarios also is leader of the Greek Cypriot majority.
Britain has reinforced its garrison of more than 10,000 men and the War Office announced that 1,000 more British paratroopers will be flown in within 24 hours.
Makarios accuses the Turks of "aggressive actions" in the communal strife. The 65 Turk soldiers stationed on Cyprus by treaty moved into the Turkish Cypriot section of Nicosia at the height of the fighting. The Greeks then moved their 950 man garrison into the Greek Cypriot quarter of the capital.
Back of all the communal strife on Cyprus is the belief of the Turkish Cypriots that their minority rights will be swept away by constitutional amendments proposed by Makarios. Most Turkish Cypriot leaders say partition is the only solution. The Turkish Cypriots are outnumbered 4-1 by the 445,000 Greek Cypriots.

1952 Class Reunion

The Hope High School Class of 1952 had a reunion on Saturday, December 21 in the Melon Room of the Barlow. A holiday dinner was served buffet style to 68, including classmates, their wives and husbands.

Red and white carnations, greenery and candles decorated the tables, carrying out the school colors as well as the red and green colors for Christmas. For the program which followed Jim Compton of Sheridan was the Master of Ceremonies.

As Compton called the roll, those answering introduced their mates, and told where they lived, how many children they had, and cited their occupations. Letters were read from several who were unable to attend.

Syd McMath, of Boston had traveled the greatest distance to attend the reunion, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Weaver of Shreveport had the most children, four. Each received a small prize. As part of the program, a humorous test was given the group.

All enjoyed renewing old acquaintances, and later, dancing was enjoyed at the Hope Country Club by about 30.

hundreds of thousands of campaign dollars raised by his conservative followers across the nation.

But the source said Goldwater plans to hang onto the insurance of another Senate bid. Filing deadline for the Arizona primary is July 10—three days before the GOP National Convention opens in San Francisco to choose the party's presidential standard bearer.

Goldwater called 27 top Arizona Republicans to his Phoenix home to tell them of his plans. After he talks to them in his spacious study, he'll hobble to the patio to tell the nation his decision.

The private gathering was scheduled for 11 a.m., Mountain Standard Time, the outdoor news conference a half hour later.

Goldwater's right foot is still in a cast after surgery to remove a calcium deposit from his heel.

Should Goldwater capture the presidential nomination, the source said, he would withdraw from the senatorial field.

Arizona Atty. Gen. Robert Pickrell has ruled Goldwater could run for both offices.

But the senator has said repeatedly he will not. When then-Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson ran for both the vice presidency and the Senate in 1960, Goldwater accused him of political trick-

Pope Begins

King Hussein of Jordan was asked at a news conference if he would accept papal mediation between Jordan and Israel if the Pope offered it. The king said the question had not arisen but the Israelis must "remedy the wrongs they've committed."

In the Israeli sector of Jerusalem, Foreign Minister Golda Meir accused the king of trying to exploit the Pope's visit for "purposes of political propaganda." But both Hussein and Meir emphasized the Pope's avowal that his pilgrimage was entirely of a religious nature.

It will be the first papal trip to the Holy Land, the first papal plane ride, the first papal trip outside Italy in 150 years and possibly the longest papal journey in history.

The trip also will bring about the first meeting of a Pope and a patriarch of the Orthodox Church since 1438. In Jerusalem Pope Paul will meet Patriarch Athenagoras of Constantinople (Istanbul), spiritual leader of the 150 million Orthodox.

By BENNET M. BOLTON
VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI and 30 Vatican aides who will fly with him to the Holy Land joined in a spiritual retreat Thursday night to pray for a successful pilgrimage. The aides included a newly listed Christian unity expert.

The group spent two hours in the Matilda chapel in prayer and meditation led by the Rev. Giulio Bevilacqua, the Roman Catholic pontiff's personal confessor and a member of the papal party leaving Saturday.

The Rt. Rev. Jan J. Willebrands, a Dutch-born prelate who is secretary of the Vatican's secretariat for Promoting Christian Unity, was added to the papal party in an official list released Thursday.

Msgr. Willebrands was instrumental in inviting Protestant, Anglican and Orthodox observers to the Vatican Ecumenical Council. He went twice to Moscow on successful missions for Pope John XXIII last year—to talk to Russian Orthodox Church leaders about attending the council and to conclude the release of Ukrainian Archbishop Josef Slipyi from 18 years confinement in Siberia.

Three cardinals, previously named to go on the three-day pilgrimage, are Amleto Cicognani, Vatican secretary of state; Eugene Tisserant, dean of the College of Cardinals; and Gustavo Testa, secretary of the Vatican Congregation for the Oriental Church.

The announcement that Msgr. Willebrands will be going came after the Pope and Orthodox Patriarch Athenagoras I of Constantinople agreed to meet in the Holy Land. It will be the first encounter of its kind since Pope Eugene IV and Patriarch Joseph II met in Florence in 1439.

Green Bay, Browns Play on Sunday

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The hard-running Green Bay Packers are drilling to cope with a budding doctor of philosophy's passes and the Cleveland Browns' offense.

The future P.H.D. (in mathematics) is Frank Ryan, who hopes to complete work for the doctorate at Rice next summer. Ryan completed 135 forwards for 2,026 yards and threw 25 touchdown passes in the regular National Football League season.

The teams will meet Sunday in the Playoff Bowl playoff, traditional for the runners-up in each of the league's two divisions.

Kickoff time is 2 p.m. EST and the telecast of the game will be blacked out locally. Promoters are hoping for a 50,000 crowd.

Word of Goldwater's plans confirmed what political odds-makers had assumed all along—that the senator would carry his conservative banner into the race for the White House.

NURSING MOTHER CAUSES BLUSHES

By Helen Worden Erskine

Dear Helen: We are a young married couple, socialize a lot, and often take gifts to the babies of new parents. Right now there's a bumper crop. Fine and dandy, we say, but not when, as happened yesterday, a young time for baby," unzips her blouse and proceeds to give baby his dinner right then and there.

It so happened that the grandparents and several kid sisters and brothers were also present. The older people blushed, the teen looked embarrassed and the younger ones were frankly curious. I felt nursing one's child is a most natural and wonderfully satisfying experience but also feel there should be some discretion about revealing the process in the presence of mixed company. We were all very uncomfortable. — Embarrassed Guests

Dear Embarrassed Guests: A full-page photo of a chesty girl in a bikini bathingsuit seems to be acceptable, but the sight of an unself-conscious mother revealing the source of her infant's nourishment is embarrassing. I'm not criticizing you for feeling uneasy. Very likely, the young mother who is so indifferent about this matter was raised in a home where such normal processes went unnoticed.

It won't warp children's sense of nature at her best, and the teens might learn a valuable lesson in the more essential facts of life by witnessing a mother feeding her infant. Relax. After you've experienced it yourself, you may change your mind!

Dear Helen: My father passed partly cloudy and windy through Saturday. Turning cooler from the northwest tonight and Saturday. Low tonight low to upper 30s. High Saturday upper 40s to mid 50s.

Northwest Arkansas: Clear to partly cloudy through Saturday. Low tonight around 30. High Saturday in 40s.

Southwest Arkansas: Clear to partly cloudy through Saturday. Turning cooler early tonight. Low tonight 35 to 40. High Saturday 47 to 54.

Northeast Arkansas: Clear to partly cloudy through Saturday. Low tonight in 30s. High Saturday in 40s.

Southeast Arkansas: Clear to partly cloudy through Saturday. Turning cooler tonight and Saturday. Low tonight 38 to 45. High Saturday in 50s.

ARKANSAS — Clear to partly cloudy through Saturday, turning cooler over the state tonight and Saturday. Low tonight around 30 northwest to low 40s southeast. High Saturday 40s north to 50s south.

LOUISIANA — Partly cloudy through Saturday. Widely scattered showers south portion tonight and early Saturday. Cooler Saturday and in north portion tonight. Low tonight 38 to 48. High Saturday 54 to 64.

away recently, and my mother loved him very deeply. Yesterday she was cleaning their bedroom, but she couldn't bring herself to clear out his clothes closet. She said, "daddy wanted his clothes to be of use to somebody but I haven't the heart to go through them. What shall we do?"

I suggested calling a thrift shop. This sent her into hysterics. Later she spoke of asking a friend to pack and take them to the Salvation Army or the Good Will. Now she wants to know if this would be right? — Someone

Dear Someone: Of course! And the sooner the better. My mother insisted upon keeping my father's clothes hanging in the closet long after his death. Opening that closet door was like opening a grave. As a consequence she suffered nervous prostration. When my first husband died, I packed and shipped his clothes the same week—though it all but killed me—to his son in Nevada. Remembering Mother's experience I knew it was the only thing to do. My leaflet, "Ten Commandments to Happiness" may be of use and comfort to your mother. A stamped, self-addressed envelope will bring it to you.

Dear Helen: What's the matter with me? I'm a dateless 17-year-old girl. Family and friends tell me I'm easy on the eyes, have personality and am respected by others, yet no boy has ever asked for a date. I was fat but have gone on a diet and lost 26 pounds with 12 more to go. I got three B's, three C's and one A on my last report card, so you see I'm not stupid. I'm in my fourth year at high, can dance the latest steps but still sit on the sidelines like a piece of furniture. How can I attract the boys? —Loveless Girl

Dear Loveless: Stop worrying about the whys and the wherefores, keep on losing weight and study the women's pages of this newspaper for tips on charm. Once you relax and give your attention to other matters, the boys will be in vane. Prick their vanity with indifference. Try the ho-hum, walk-away technique.

Have you a problem? Perhaps Helen Worden Erskine can help you. Write her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Associated Press Highlights Hope Post Office Fight

Wire Story Today Is This Below

HOPE, Ark. (AP) — A small-city newspaper publisher who believes government economy should start at the grass roots level began a petition campaign today to kill plans for a new $500,000 post office in Hope.

Alex H. Washburn, 64-year-old editor and publisher of the Hope Star, hopes to get 2,000 signatures and move Rep. Oren Harris, D-Ark., to get Congress to rescind a grant to build the post office.

Washburn said he hopes the campaign, if successful, will encourage other cities to refuse federal aid for projects which they feel are not needed.

He said that, as far as he knows, this is the first attempt by a city to reject such federal spending. "We think it will jolt them if one town turns it down," Washburn said.

It would not be the first time that Hope, a city of 8,399 in Southwest Arkansas, has balked at federal spending within its limits. On Oct. 8, a crowd of 500 shouted down a plan to get $250,000 in federal funds for a paving project. Washburn neither editorialized nor spoke publicly against that project, but he was against it. He said the city should be able to build streets without government help.

A proposed federal aid housing project "was driven into a hole" by the defeat of the paving loan plan, Washburn said.

Washburn's objections to the post office are that the present 3-story brick and stone building is adequate and that Hempstead County doesn't need a new post office because it has lost 21 per cent of its population since the present one was built in 1912.

"A new post office would be built out of debt, not taxes," Washburn said. "And to say Hope needs it, in view of the population decline in our county, is absurd."

Washburn kicked off his campaign today with a front-page editorial in his afternoon newspaper, which has a circulation of 3,302.

Washburn said Harris had promised to take the matter up if the petitions show that the people think the post office is not needed.

Washburn said he is crystallizing city sentiment. He said he talked with the city manager board and scores of residents about the petition plan and found a solid front.

Many persons, Washburn said, like the post office where it is—on a green lawn in the center of town. The new post office would be two blocks outside the business district.

The present post office is next door to Washburn's newspaper, but he said that has no bearing on the campaign. The Star has no commercial printing department and the post office doesn't bring in any business," Washburn said.

He has bought property and plans to move his newspaper to a new building within a few years.

Washburn said the reason the department wants to build a new post office is because of a plan under which post offices are replaced every 50 years. "But the government has an obligation much greater than the 50-year rule of bureaucrats," Washburn wrote in today's editorial, "the obligation to keep itself solvent so our country can defend itself in time of war and honors its social security pledges in time of peace."

"There are thousands of towns like us throughout America," he said, "prosperous enough but without material change. To replace all their post offices simply because some non-elective official invokes a 50-year rule is to ask for this very attack I am making."

San Diego vs. Boston in American

SAN DIEGO (AP)—The American Football League's championship game Sunday is shaping up as a personal challenge for San Diego Charger halfback Paul Lowe.

The speedster from Oregon rolled up 1,010 yards rushing during the regular season and was named Comeback Player of the Year by The Associated Press.

But he was way below par in two regular season games against the Boston Patriots, champions of the AFL's Eastern Division.

While the Chargers, Western Division champs, squeaked by Boston by 17-13 and 7-6, Lowe went nowhere. He got six yards in the first game and in the second he gained four yards, lost four.

"I've got Boston figured out now," claims Lowe. He's talking about gaining 200 yards Sunday but for security reasons he isn't saying how he'll do it.

But the Patriots don't think Lowe is going anywhere—again. "I think we've got Paul's number," said Nick Buoniconti, Patriot middle linebacker. "Tell him we're going to be keying on him."

Boston Coach Mike Holovak, who brought his team to San Diego Wednesday night, isn't quite so candid about Boston's defensive plans.

"We don't expect Lowe to gain 200 yards but we're not going to key on him," said Holovak. "Key on Lowe and Lincoln will kill you."

He was referring to fullback Keith Lincoln, the AFL's fourth-ranked ball carrier, who is as explosive as Lowe.

"Our two regular season games were hard-fought contests that could have gone either way," Holovak continued. "We gave up three touchdowns in two games against San Diego and that averages out to a touchdown and a half a game."

"You average that and you'll win most of your games. If we can hold San Diego to 10 points Sunday, we'll have a good chance to beat them."

Both clubs can be expected to rely heavily again on strong defensive play but the outcome could hinge on the passing of two old pro quarterbacks, Boston's Babe Parilli and San Diego's Tobin Rote, named AFL Player of the Year.

Coach Sid Gillman of San Diego says he'll try to open up his attack. That means Lincoln and Lowe should get plenty of opportunities to roll up the yardage.

Gillman hopes Lowe runs back to his form of the 1960 AFL championship game in Houston. In that one, Lowe got 165 yards on 21 carries.

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Coach Sid Gillman firmly believes his San Diego Chargers will run into "about as good a defense as there is in professional football" when they play the Boston Patriots for the American Football League championship Sunday.

They talk about the defenses of the Chicago Bears and the Green Bay Packers and the New York Giants. But that Boston defense is about equal to any," Gillman said today. The Chargers, nevertheless,

Puerto Rico Title Is Up in N.Y. Bout

By MURRAY ROSE

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Jose Torres and Jose Gonbales, a couple of boxers from the sunny Caribbean, meet here in the frigid north tonight for the middleweight championship of Puerto Rico.

That may seem odd. But stranger still is the fact that Torres, the champion, is guaranteeing Gonzalez $10,000 and is gambling the television 10-rounder will draw about 8,000 fans to Madison Square Garden. The fight is rated a toss-up.

If 8,000 show up, Torres will collect some cash for the lumps he will receive and a possible prestige victory over his ranking opponent.

To make the $10,000 guarantee, Torres is turning over his $5,000 share of the TV receipts to Gonzalez, who will get $5,000 for his end of the video money.

Torres, for his end, will receive 50 per cent of the net gate. Some of the Garden gates have grossed no more than $6,000 or are favored by about six points.

Gillman's estimate of Boston's defensive strength is not likely to be endorsed by acclamation in National Football League circles. But, so far as it pertains to the AFL, his finding is unassailable.

The Patriots ranked first in the league in total defense, allowing an average of 265.3 yards per game. They were first in rushing defense with an average of 79.1 yards allowed, and fourth in pass defense—only 6.2 yards behind the leader—with an average of 186.2 yards allowed.

The Chargers flattened the Patriots 50-17 in a pre-season game and barely beat them twice, 17-13 and 7-6, during the regular season. Gillman was asked to explain the high score of the pre-season game.

"They don't play much of a pattern in pre-season games," he said. "They play you about as simply as you could hope they would. But when the bell rings things change a little bit."

Gillman said trying to get a good running game going will not be San Diego's only problem Sunday. "We've got to run a little and we've got to be able to throw," he said. "And if any phase of our game suffers, we'll suffer."

Says Patriot Coach Mike Holovak: "They aren't going to run."

This will be the third title game for the Chargers. They lost one to Houston in 1960, when they were still in Los Angeles, and another to Houston in 1961.

The Patriots won their first Eastern Division title by defeating Buffalo in a playoff Dec. 28.

Stars' Loss Hurts West Virginia

By MURRAY CHASS

Associated Press Sports Writer
It never should have happened to West Virginia, especially with the Mountaineer basketball team helping the state celebrate its 100th birthday.

But it did, and West Virginia distinctly shows the effects. The effects, that is, of playing without a Rod Hundley, a Jerry West or a Rod Thorn.

This is the first season in 10 that the Mountaineers don't have one of those stars or one of similar ability. The results so far: a 6-6 record following the latest loss, a 65-57 upset at home by weak Furman Thursday night.

The start is West Virginia's worst since the 1953-54 season. Not too coincidentally, that was the season before Hundley started playing varsity basketball. West followed Hundley and himself was followed by Thorn, who graduated last year.

None of the nation's top 12 teams were scheduled in 12 light basketball night.

In other major games, Pitt trampled winless Dartmouth 107-78, Virginia Tech squeezed by Virginia 62-60, Richmond whipped Florida State 69-65 and Houston edged Air Force 64-63.

The 27-year-old Torres, determined to make his bid for recognition against ranking fighters, has broken with his manager, cautious Cus D'Amato, D'Amato, who managed former heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson, refuses to do business with the Garden.

Torres has a 27-1-1 record. The lone loss was a fifth round knockout by Florentino Fernandez in San Juan, P.R., last May 26.

Gonzalez, 23, has a 26-8-1 record. He is ranked ninth among the contenders while Torres is unranked.

Pick Koufax Top Athlete of the Year

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

Associated Press Sports Writer
Sandy Koufax, a Brooklyn boy who didn't really make good until the Dodgers moved west, was named Male Athlete of the Year for 1963 today in The Associated Press year-end poll, capping a long list of honors he has received for his amazing pitching feats.

Koufax, a left-hander reputed to throw a baseball faster than anyone in the major leagues, led the Los Angeles Dodgers to the National League pennant, winning 25 games and then won two more in their four-game sweep of the World Series against the New York Yankees.

Previously he had been selected as the National League's Most Valuable Player and had been awarded the Cy Young Award as the top major league pitcher. In recognition of his selection as Male Athlete of the Year, Koufax will be presented The Associated Press Eagles Trophy at the Chicago Baseball Writers Dinner Jan. 12.

Another Dodger, speedster Maury Wills, won the trophy last year.

In the voting by sports writers and broadcasters in the AP poll, Koufax outdistanced two of the top quarterbacks of the 1963 football season, Y. A. Tittle of the pro New York Giants and Roger Staubach of Navy.

Sandy's name was first on 93 of 147 ballots. Tittle, who passed the Giants to the National Football League's Eastern Conference championship, received 21 first place votes. In point scoring on a 3-2-1 basis, Koufax was an easy winner with 341 points to Tittle's 170. Staubach was a distant third with 84 points.

Others in the top 10 in the voting were Jack Nicklaus, winner of the Masters and PGA golf championships, with 40 points; heavyweight boxing champion Sonny Liston, 27; pole vault record breaker John Pennell, 23; U.S. Open golf champion Julius Boros, 22; Milwaukee Braves pitcher Warren Spahn, 19; and golfer Arnold Palmer and Cleveland Browns fullback Jimmy Brown, 17 each.

Best Player Award Goes to Morris

NEW YORK (AP) — Linebacker Larry Morris, most valuable player in Chicago's National Football League title victory over New York, thinks a lot of Giant quarterback Y. A. Tittle but believes Tittle's injury wasn't the difference in the game.

"I think we would have beaten them with or without Tittle," Morris said Thursday. "But I admire him for coming back to play. That's a tough injury for a quarterback because he throws off his left foot."

Morris spoke at a luncheon where he received a new car for having been selected MVP by Sport Magazine. He explained how Tittle's left knee was injured.

"My helmet hit his left knee-cap as he threw the ball," the linebacker said.

Baltimore Beats N.Y. by 124-109

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Terry Dischinger and the Baltimore Bullets scored a coast-to-coast bullseye Thursday night at the expense of the re-run New York Knickerbockers as the National Basketball Association tapped off its series of nationally televised games.

The NBA's return to national television after a two-year lay-off might have been staged more dramatically at Dayton, Ohio, where the Cincinnati Royals squeezed by the Detroit Pistons 112-111, or at San Francisco where Bob Pettit led the St. Louis Hawks to a 111-106 verdict over the Warriors. But Dischinger's near-perfect marksmanship in Baltimore's 124-109 video romp over the Knickerbockers was a living room smash in its own right.

The Bullets' nifty forward scored 25 of his game-high 36 points in the second half and personally nipped New York's repeated comeback bids. Dischinger hit 7-for-7 in the third period, 9-for-11 in the half and 13-for-18 in the game. The Knicks, who trailed by 14 at intermission, four times closed the gap to six points in the final quarter.

In Dayton, Detroit's Bob Ferry wasn't complaining about the lack of television exposure. Ferry, star of the Pistons' overtime victory against San Francisco Monday, wore the goat's horns this time. Detroit led the Royals, 111-110, with 14 seconds to play and had possession when Ferry's in bounds pass was picked off by Cincinnati's Tom Hawkins, who fed Wayne Embury for the winning basket.

Pettit paced St. Louis' fourth period rally that overcame a five-point Warriors lead and finished with 28 points. Len Wilkens scored 21, including the jump shot that put the Hawks ahead to stay with three minutes remaining, and Cliff Hagan added 23.

Boxing May Continue TV Show

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — If the American Broadcasting Co. goes through with its plans to drop the weekly Friday night boxing show from television, Madison Square Garden may form its own network and continue the series.

"That's a very definite possibility," Garden spokesman John F. X. Condon said Thursday. "There's no reason why we shouldn't or couldn't. The New York Giants did it very successfully. We could do it cheaper than the big networks and make a go of it."

Condon emphasized, however, that the whole matter "is still in the talking stage. We still haven't been notified by the network of any planned change."

The contract for the weekly boxing shows extends through September, but the network recently announced that it was dropping the show, "in the new season, that is, 1964."

The network, in its announcement, said the show may be dropped as early as April, possibly to be replaced by another sports show.

"The option for renewal is in March," Condon said. "That's the reason they're talking about April. They can drop it anytime they want, but they have to pay us through September."

The weekly fight show has been a fixture since 1943—the longest continuous sponsored show on television—and the anticipated loss of revenue has the Garden frankly concerned.

"CBS pulled out of it some time ago," Condon recalled, "and I don't know whether NBC would be interested. So what else is there?"

"There's a possibility the Garden could form its own network and continue the series. I'd say it's a definite possibility. Gillette, the sponsor on ABC, doesn't want out. It's a power play by ABC, involving some commitments and a lot of money they have tied up in football."

This week's offering is a 10-round middleweight bout Friday night between Jose Torres and Jose Gonzalez, two Puerto Ricans. Torres, a member of the 1956 U.S. Olympic team, is the island's champion.

NEW YORK (AP) — There may be weekly network television of boxing even if the American Broadcasting Co. drops the weekly Friday night show.
